

Derrick Bauer

Manager of Materials Engineering Department, Elliott Company

Materials for Hydrogen Compression

Biography

Mr. Bauer is the Manager of the Materials Engineering Department at Elliott Group which supports development of materials and associated fabrication processes for their turbomachinery product lines. His prior experience within the department includes materials lab operations, production assistance and aftermarket support including remaining life assessment testing on steam turbines and FCC Hot Gas Expanders. He has authored articles for the Turbomachinery Symposiums and for the Gulf South Rotating Machinery Symposiums. Derrick holds an MS in Materials Science and Engineering from the University of Pittsburgh. He is an active member of ASM and NACE.